

Unwinding at the unWINEd - ACT

Written by HQ SACT Staff Writer
Thursday, 10 January 2013 08:22

unWINEd. What a special name for such a special innovation event! As written in the last Transformer, Innovation Research Park of Old Dominion University has been hosting these monthly events for approximately two years. This month had a special twist as the event acted as a catalyst for HQ SACT staff to meet with focused local businesses.

Prior to the unWINEd, ten businesses and staff from: the Capability, Engineering and Innovation (CEI) Division; Command, Control, Deployment and Sustainability (C2DS) Division; and Joint Education, Training and Exercises (JETE) Division met in a round-table format for presentations and discussion regarding social media and associated technology.

Hosted by Brigadier-General Giovanni Fungo of CEI, the purpose of the meeting was to "provide an opportunity to exchange views" on the vital subject of social media. "For some time now our command has been investigating this phenomenon and observing its impact. We believe that there is much potential to advance this capability beyond just its uses for communications," Fungo said in his opening remarks.

Unwinding at the unWINEd - ACT

Written by HQ SACT Staff Writer
Thursday, 10 January 2013 08:22

