Supreme Allied Commander Transformation, French Air Force General Jean-Paul Paloméros, made his first visit to Belgium December 3, 2012.

During his visit, General Paloméros met with the Belgian Minister of Defence, Mr Pieter De Crem, with the Belgian Chief of Defence, Air Force General Gerard Van Caelenberge and with high-ranking staff members of the Belgian Ministry of Defence.

It was a great opportunity for discussing the most important topics of mutual interest. The high-value meeting triggered a constructive discussion on how to improve interoperability by the implementation of the Connected Forces Initiative and cooperation between members through the Smart Defence and regional cooperation. They also discussed the Belgian Armed Forces transformation and how ACT can assist in this process.

General Paloméros said, "I was very pleased to make my first official visit in Belgium, one of the NATO co-founders with many longstanding success stories in multinational cooperation."
