Students from Tiffin University in Tiffin, Ohio, pose for a photo during a visit to Headquarters Supreme Allied Commander Transformation (HQ SACT) 13 February 2013. The Tiffin students will be playing the role of the Iceland and Estonia delegation at International Model NATO 2013 held in Washington, D.C. 14-17 February. The Model NATO event is a simulation of the proceedings of NATO, augmented by a pre-conference study and briefings at embassies of NATO member states in Washington, DC. It provides a unique opportunity for university and college students to study the role, structure and activities of NATO, as well as the military, political-security, economic, and social issues facing the Alliance.

SACT leads NATO's military "Transformation" and development capabilities to address defence and security challenges by proactively providing future military estimates, perspectives and advice. During their visit to HQ SACT, the students talked with several staff members about the inner workings of NATO to help prepare them for Model NATO 2013.
