THE POWER OF DIVERSITY IN THE WORKFORCE

SPEAKER BIOS:

DR. CHRISTINE DARDEN

DR. STEPHANIE ADAMS

LIEUTENANT GENERAL
CHRIS WHITECROSS

Dr. Christine Darden is an American mathematician, data analyst, and aeronautical engineer who devoted much of her 40-year career in aerodynamics at NASA to researching supersonic flight and sonic booms. She was one of the researchers featured in the book Hidden Figures: The American Dream and the Untold Story of the Black Women Mathematicians Who Helped Win the Space Race (2016) by Margot Lee Shetterly.

Darden was the first African-American woman at NASA's Langley Research Center to be promoted into the Senior Executive Service.

Dr. Stephanie Adams is the first female engineering dean at Old Dominion University. Among her many recognitions, Adams received the 2003 CAREER award from the National Science Foundation. She also received the 2008 DuPont Minorities in Engineering Award from the American Society of Engineering Education and the Janice A. Lumpkin Education of the Year Award from the National Society of Black Engineers.

Lieutenant General Chris Whitecross enrolled in the Canadian Forces in 1982, joining the Canadian Military Engineers. Lieutenant General Whitecross was promoted to her current rank on 26 May, 2015. In February of that year, she was appointed Commander of the Canadian Forces Strategic Response Team on Sexual Misconduct. She assumed her duties as Commander, Military Personnel Command, in June 2015.

In November 2016 she assumed command of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) Defense College in Rome. In this capacity, Lieutenant General Whitecross can continue her life's passion of making the defense community a more respectful and inclusive environment.

Vice Admiral Paul Bennett is a senior Royal Navy officer currently serving as Chief of Staff of NATO Allied Command Transformation. VADM Bennett has enjoyed an extensive seagoing career and has commanded at every rank. Interspersed between seagoing appointments, he has served ashore in a number of key billets within the United Kingdom Maritime Forces, NATO and the Ministry of Defense. VADM Bennett is an alumnus of Higher Command and Staff Course and the Windsor Leadership Trust.
