

Biography

Philippe Duhamel, is Chief Executive Officer of ThalesRaytheonSystems.

Philippe Duhamel came into TRS with more than 25 years of defense sector experience. He has held several positions in Air Traffic Management, and Command, Control, Communications, Computers and Information (C4I) businesses. Prior to his current position, Philippe Duhamel managed the French operations of TRS from 2010 to July 2013. Before that, from 2007 to July 2010, he was Managing Director of the Ground Radar Business Unit for Thales Air Systems.

In 2003, Philippe was appointed Head of Radar Programs for Thales Netherlands. In 2000, he was Head of bids department of Thales Air traffic Management Business Group. He was before Project Manager for Army Command Information Systems. Joining Thales in 1987, he began his career as a Battlefield Anti-Aircraft Command and Control Systems Engineer.

Philippe graduated with a degree in Electronics from Institut National Polytechnique de Grenoble. He is a member of the French National Institute for Higher Defense Studies and is French Air Force Reserve Colonel.