

Cyber Defence Centre of Excellence up for Accreditation - ACT

Written by ACT PAO

Monday, 26 March 2012 02:59

The NATO Cooperative Cyber Defence Centre of Excellence (CCD COE) located in Tallinn, Estonia was established May 14, 2008 by seven NATO nations. From October 2011 to March 2012, the Centre of Excellence has gained three new nations; the Netherlands, Poland and the United States - bringing the total to 11 nations which support this COE. These nations have come together to enhance the cyber defence capability not only for themselves but for the overall structure of NATO. This Centre of Excellence will go through the NATO accreditation process approximately six months from now.

For more information on the Cyber Defence Centre of Excellence please click here.

Photo: Supreme Allied Commander Transformation (SACT) General Stephane Abrial (centre) with (to his right) Lieutenant Colonel Aivar Toom, the Estonian National Liaison Representative (NLR) to Headquarters SACT and representatives from all the 11 nations that support the NATO Cooperative Cyber Defence Centre of Excellence (CCD COE) located in Tallinn, Estonia.