The following questions were raised with respect to subject RFI. Responses are to provide clarification.

Questions	Answers
1.We do not normally provide costing data except for final proposals/IFIB. We are concerned that failure to provide costing information would be excluded from further participation. Our response will include recommendations for a technical approach to inform potential solutions. Do you have any guidance?	1.Exclusion of costing information does not eliminate any vendor from further participation in the trials nor the follow on capability programme. However, Rough Order of Magnitude (ROM) data is necessary for cost analysis, and failure to provide Rough Order of Magnitude may prevent a vendor from being chosen for the Analysis of Alternatives trial. The estimates are intended to be Rough Order of Magnitude estimates and are non-binding. Range estimates are acceptable.
2. My company has interest in this RFI but did not attend the 1st two phases of the RFI. Are we too late to respond? Would we have had to attend the first two phases of the RFI to respond to any of it?	2. Non-attendance to the first two phases of the RFI does not prevent companies from the submission of responses before the RFI submission due date.
